

Why Drain Cleaning
Is Essential For the

HEALTH OF YOUR PIPES

Regular drain cleaning is one of the key maintenance tasks needed to keep your plumbing system functioning properly. Without cleaning your drains, the buildup of grease, food, soap, and other debris will block the free flow of wastewater, causing plumbing issues. Here's why drain cleaning is good for the health of your pipes:

1 Reduces Blockage

Drain cleaning removes food, soap, grease, and other buildups, preventing them from getting further inside the pipes and causing blockages and poor drainage.

2 Reduces Mold Growth

Regular drain cleaning reduces the chances of mold growing in and around your plumbing faucets, preventing potential health hazards and damage to the faucets and pipes.

3 Reduces Repair Expenses

Blockages and mold growth are the leading cause of pipe bursts, so regular drain cleaning will save you the money you'd otherwise spend repairing and replacing damaged pipes.
